

Joanne Bujalski

LL.B.

Senior Associate

---

With over 25 years of experience in the legal industry, Joanne brings deep and wide-ranging expertise, developed through her work in the United Kingdom earlier in her career and more extensively in New South Wales. She has worked across various jurisdictions, including the High Court, Court of Appeal, Supreme Court, District Court, Administrative Tribunal, and the Personal Injury Commission, with a focus on personal injury law. Her career has been dedicated to advocating for injured individuals, helping them access support and compensation through the legal system.

Joanne takes a holistic approach to lawyering, combining strong legal strategy with technical skills and a focus on supporting each client throughout their legal journey. She is client-focused and committed to guiding individuals through the complexities of the legal system, ensuring they are protected from its challenges.

Her areas of practice include:

- Workers compensation
- Work injury damages
- Motor accident injury claims
- Total and permanent disability (TPD) and income protection claims
- Public and occupier liability
- Medical negligence
- Nervous shock and compensation to relatives

Joanne holds a Bachelor of Laws and has earned several key admissions and memberships, including:

- Approved Lawyer with the Independent Review Office (IRO)
- Admitted to the High Court of Australia
- Admitted to the Supreme Court of NSW
- Member, Law Society of NSW
- Member, Australian Lawyers Alliance
